

Lancaster Tethering Law

Requires water bowls to be either weighted or mounted to prevent tipping, and prohibits animal owners or caretakers from tethering or restraining animals in any way that could cause injury or entanglement.

It also calls for dry, enclosed and insulated shelters with one entrance. Shelters also must have moisture-proof flooring that is raised at least 2 inches above the ground.